SEVENTY YACHTS OUT ON SOUND

Light Winds Mar Sport of Fleet at Horseshoe Y. C. Regaita.

THE ORIOLE BEATS THE CAPRICE BY A MINUTE

The Alert Shows Propensities for Ghosting and Makes the Best Time.

Seventy yachts sailed yesterday in the annual regnita of the Horseshoe Harbor Yacht Club, the largest fleet seen on Long Island Sound this season except during Larchmont week. This showing was the more remarkable in that the New York Yacht Club cruise has robbed the local squadron of most of its larger craft.

Light, fluky breezes prevailed when the regatta committee Frederick Gade, R. C. Heather and A. E. Fountain, jr. reported at the starting line off Hen and Chickens, and it looked for a while as if the warning gun would have to be postponed, but around 1:30 p. m. streaks of air struck in from the southwest, and fifteen minutes later the two "thirties," the Oriole and the Caprice, the glants of the miniature fleet, were sent off.

They sailed a close race all the way. It was a reach to the first mark, a beat to the second and a run home. The Caprice was first over the line, and held her lead throughout the first round of the 64-mile triangle, but on the second, during the beat to windward, Mahlstedt, who was sailing the Oriole, worked her shead of her rival and she won by a little over a minute. and she won by a little over a minute.

R. B. Budd's Alert exhibited her NEW YORK TEAM THEN R. B. Budd's Alert exhibited her ghosting propensities in the fitful tephyrs and made the fastest time of the entire fleet around the course. As she neared the end of the first round the regatta committee decided that the wind was too uncertain to send all the yachts the full distance, so the signal for "once around the triangle" was hoisted. The Alert defeated the Rohilla by more than eight minutes, corrected time.

The Larchmont Interclub sloops and the Stars furnished the best classes of the day, each starting eight boats. They did not, however, furnish the best comto tell which would cross first, and it was not until the last few hundred yards that G. S. Runk, jr.'s, Bella made sure of victory. She beat the Lewanna by about half a minute, with the Whiff their losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the control of the losing ways and the Yankees in the control of the control

DESPITE LAPORTE The reason for Nap Rucker's popitching this season is explained at last. He has deltoid bureltis. Some Onetime Yankee Scores folk have asserted that Nap was carrying too much weight, while others nazarded the opinion that he has been troubled with plain laziness.

His defenders have maintained that a bad shoulder was the cause of all his misfortunes, but it remained for Dr. Nathan P. Thayer, physician to the Superbas, to get down to the root of the whole matter. The former great lefthander will not pitch again for many weeks, as he has been advised to take a long rest.

The Tip Tops turned the tables on the Indianapolis Feds yesterday by winning by a score of 5 to 2. Tom Seaton worked on the mound for the home team, and had it not been for Frank Laporte, widely known arourd these parts because of his connection with the Yankees a few years ago, he would have had a rather easy time of it. of it. Laporte was responsible for both of the runs tallied by the Hoosiers. In the second inning, when two were out, he drove the ball away beyond Anderson in centre, and didn't stop running until he reached third. Holt obligingly fumbled a grounder by Kaiser, the next Indianapolis batter, and the Frenchman came across the plate with the first run of the game. BRAVES WIN LONG GAME

Brooklyn's first run came in the second inning, and was the result of a wild toss by Warren, when he tried to catch Holt stealing second. The ball shot by both Laporte and Campbell, Holt getting all the way home. The Tip Tops added two to their count in the following frame. Seaton hit the right field fence, with a double, Anderson drew a base on balls, Delehanty sacrificed and Griggs doubled, scoring Seaton and Anderson. Seaton and Anderson.

There was no more scoring until the seventh, when the home nine made another brace of runs. These resulted from a pass to Westerzil, a single by Land, a double steal and a hit by Anderson. The poor throwing of Warren, the Hoosier catcher, was responsible for both runs.

Mosely, formerly of the Boston Red Sox, pitched for Indianapolis and struck out ten men. Had it not been for the poor support he received and his tendency to wildness he would have given Seaton a much closer battle.

Off the pair Commonwealth ripped six rousing drives, one of which was a home run slam by "Happy" Dodd in the sixth frame, while another was a three-base wallong that that came in the opening round.

The fact that the game was in the series for the Amateur League cham-pionship cut little figure on either side. Old scores had to be settled, and the city title, something of greater value in Montelair eyes than a mere league championship, was at stake.

There was enough of spirited play from the outset to satisfy the most blase critic. The fact that it took only a few minutes over an hour and a half to decide the issue is significant, as especially as two hours and a half is the usual duration of the league games. Montclair was responsible for a couple of smart double plays that did much to check further uprisings of the Commonwealth.

Luck played into Montclair's hands for the lowland team, but the inability of Balmos to make a hit cost his side of Balmos to make a nit cost his size a run or more, and quits porsibly the victory. With one out, Jacobus walked and reached third when Jube singled to right. Rollins smashed out what seemed to be a hit, but Burleigh re-

Jacobus sliding home. Archibald's grounder let Jube reach third, thereby filling the bases. Balmos, however, was unable to deliver in time of need, though later in the day when nothing depended on him he lined out single: Neither team was near a score again
